THE COAL TRADE OF PITTSBURG.—A little work, entitled Pittsburg as it is, has just been issued in that city. Some interesting facts in relation to the coal trade are condensed from this work by the Philadelphia North American.

1st. We give a statement of the coal shipped from the various pools of the Monongahela Slack-water Navigation during the last twelve years:

Year.	Bushels.	Year.	Bushels.
1845.....	4,905,185	1851.....	12,515,228
1846.....	7,778,911	1852.....	14,620,841
1847.....	9,645,127	1853.....	15,710,307
1848.....	8,819,361	1854.....	17,351,948
1849.....	9,704,507	1855.....	22,284,048
1850.....	12,297,967	1856.....	8,504,625

The extraordinary diminution in the year 1856 was caused by the river being too low to run coal for two hundred days, or six and a half months, from May 14th to December, and also having closed again in December until February. What Pittsburg suffered from that long drought may be guessed from this item. Of the coal shipped on this channel of trade as above the greater part was shipped down the river, the proportion being in the year 1855 but 5,933,850 bushels for home use, against 16,300,159 bushels for export, of which latter 5,500,000 bushels were for New Orleans. This is one avenue of the coal trade.

From the first dam on the Monongahela river to the junction of the Chartiers creek with the Ohio there are a number of coal railroads which furnish coal for home trade and for exportation, and the product carried on them in the year 1855 was about 3,000,000 bushels, two-thirds being for export. In the environs of the city there are 150 coal works whose yield is conveyed to purchasers by teams, and consumed at home. In 1856, these pits produced 9,885,000 bushels. On the Pennsylvania Railroad the amount of coal carried in the last four years was as follows:

Year.	Bushels.	Year.	Bushels.
1853.....	1,425,000	1854.....	5,250,000
1854.....	3,375,000	1855.....	6,132,168

The authority from which we quote sums up the coal trade of Pittsburg, for the year 1855, as follows:

Home consumption—in stores, dwellings, and public buildings, 10,855,000 bushels; factories and steamboats, 22,000,000 bushels; three gas works, 350,000 bushels; two water works, 200,000 bushels. Total 33,405,000 bushels.

Exports—By Ohio river, 16,300,159 bushels; Pennsylvania Railroad, 3,372,000 bushels; Pennsylvania Canal, 560,000 bushels; Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, 140,000 bushels. Total, 20,372,159 bushels.

This shows an aggregate for the whole trade of 53,782,159 bushels. Among the avenues now conveying coal to the city are the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and Allegheny Valley railroads. On the latter, the coal transported in the year 1856 was 473,050 bushels. The other road only commenced the coal business in the present year. As the bushel measurement of coal is unfamiliar here, we would state for the information of our readers that the entire aggregate above is reducible to 2,151,326 tons. This is not for the present year, but for the best of former ones. In 1857 it is estimated that the coal trade will run up to 2,469,000 tons.

LECTURE AT SPRINGFIELD, AT LEBANON, &c.—A few weeks ago we received a very cordial and flattering letter from a large number of the citizens of Springfield, and another from a large number of the citizens of Lebanon, requesting us to deliver in their respective towns our no-party lecture on the "Present Aspect of American Politics." We have lost or mislaid those two letters, but we cordially accept the invitations contained in them. We will lecture in Springfield on Monday evening, June 22d, and at Lebanon on Tuesday, June 23d, either at the evening or at 4 o'clock in the afternoon as our friends there may arrange.

We are indebted to an esteemed friend for Cincinnati and New York papers in advance of the mail.

LEILLIA LEE.

A BALLAD.

"Leillia, give me thy dainty-like hand,
So pure in its delicate glow,
And let this circlet of glittering pearls
Grow dim on its dainty snow."

"Bind up the lengths of thy floating hair
With this clasp of opal bloom,
For the Earls love not to see the charms
Thus marred by its midnight gloom."

"And let this drapery of snowy lace
Lightly shadow thy bosom's glow,
As the cloud-disolving beams of day
But soften the hues below."

"For the Earl is coming, with lordly train,
In the pomp of ancestral pride,
To take thee, a fair yet portionless maid,
For his bright—his bonnie bride."

"Then deck thy form in these peerless gems,
They would dazzle an eastern queen—
Rubies and pearls, like the sunset clouds
With moonlight glancing between."

"Baronies broad and grand you will have
Whose trees are a century old—
Where many a year the shadows have slept
And the sunbeams dropped their gold."

"Rank as the wife of a titled Earl—
Who will dress thee in robes so fine,
While kindly thy beauty will pledge
In the gold and crimson wine."

"The earth is bright and gushing with song
And the sky is as fair to see—
Then why doth she sit with drooping head?
What aileth sweet Leillia Lee?

"Then starting as one in sudden fear,
Her ripe lips blanched to white—
She gazes around with stony eyes,
That seem as they had no sight."

"Oh Mother! but take this jewelled band,
It clasps my brow with maddening pain—
Closer still close like a serpent's coil
Round my throbbing, aching brain."

"This bridal veil in its misty flow—
Though as light as the sun-kissed air—
Weighs me down with a horrible weight—
I cannot breathe with it there."

"These gems, this robe, this hated ring—
The price of gilded misery—
I fling them back in my maiden scorn—
I'm free, once more I am free."

"For why should I wed this cold, proud Earl,
I care not for houses or land—
I'm richer than he with all his gold—
I'm rich in a heart's hand."

"But this is the curse of a beauteous form—
That has won me this leman's place—
I'd rather be slave to the meanest clown
Than wife of hi-lordly Grace."

"What would I do in lonely bairns—
When the roses were white and red—
I'd dream of meadows and clover-blooms
And sigh for my home instead."

"Where I could loosen my waving hair
Without pearl or golden comb,
And call to the lips I kiss in sleep,
I come with my love to roam,

"To roam where the dreamy waters flow
In the hush of a twilight moon—
Sweet love-dreams fluttering through our talk
Like birds through a rosy June—

"My young heart filled to the brim with joy
As I drawl love's wine to the lees,
Whose wand can change every drop of blood
To jewels brighter than these."

"Then why should I sell my woman's truth
For a dowry of gorgeous sin—
Though a crown should gleam above my brow
The fangs would rankle within."

"Maiden, remember these tears are vain,
And idle these murmuring words,
For the Earl will make thy life as gay
And bright as a spring-time bird's."

"Then smooth the folds of thy bridal robe"—
But she won no other reply
Save these wild words from a poor crushed heart,
"Oh! I would that I could die."

MAY 20, 1857.

SOUTHERN SEAPORTS.—Charleston has justly distinguished herself by being the first Southern seaport to establish a connection by railroad with the Mississippi river. There can be no doubt that she will derive signal advantage from this great work. The road, passing for a long distance through some of the richest and most populous districts of the South, will pour into Charleston a great trade which she has never enjoyed hitherto. The Philadelphia North American says the States of Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, all of which are traversed by this Charleston and Memphis Railroad, contain together over four millions of inhabitants. They raise that great cotton crop which is considered the most valuable of our staple products, and if Charleston can succeed in getting the sea transportation of that alone it would give her a great impetus on the road to prosperity.

Savannah, too, has long been struggling to reach the Mississippi through the central sections of Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, making her western depot Vicksburg. A large portion of that chain of railway is already built, and the rest will be in a few years. Norfolk also has a western project, but it, too, is incomplete. Its line, after leaving Virginia, goes one branch into Tennessee, and the other into Kentucky, the latter reaching to a point opposite Cincinnati. This latter avenue we find recommended editorially in the Cincinnati Gazette as deserving of attention and encouragement, on the ground that Cincinnati, as the leading centre of business at the West, needs a connection direct with the Southern seaboard. From the progress already made at the South we look for the rapid prosecution of these and many other improvements, the effect of which must inevitably be to raise the importance of the cities of Mobile, Savannah, Charleston, and Norfolk.

LECTURE IN MAYSVILLE.—At the request of our Maysville friends we shall deliver a lecture on the "Present Aspect of American Politics" in that city on Friday evening next, the 12th inst.

Our programme is as follows: Maysville, Friday evening, the 12th; Mayslick, Saturday at 4 P. M.; Flemingsburg, Monday, 4 P. M., unless our friends there fix a different hour; Cynthiana, Tuesday evening; Frankfort, Wednesday evening if invited; and Georgetown, Thursday evening.

DEFALCATION IN THE COMMERCIAL BANK, SCOTLAND.—Henry Salmon, for forty years connected with the Commercial Bank, Scotland, principally as agent, is announced in the English papers as a defaulter to the amount of £30,000 sterling. He had disappeared from his home, and nothing regarding his whereabouts was known.

THE GREAT RAILROAD CELEBRATION.—Many of our citizens who participated in the railroad celebration at St. Louis have returned, highly delighted with their trip. The excursion from Cincinnati to St. Louis was composed of three trains, each consisting of ten cars. Every train was provided with refreshments. The officers of the company were very attentive throughout the trip. On the arrival of the trains at Illinois town the guests were provided with supper and lodgings on three or four large steamboats, and also with breakfast in the morning. They were then conducted to St. Louis, where a procession was formed, composed of the citizens, military, fremen, and various associations, and the guests in carriages and omnibuses. The procession moved to the fair grounds, where, after toasts and speeches, a bountiful repast was partaken of. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were on the grounds, and yet there was plenty for all. Among the speakers on the occasion we notice Gen. Pilcher. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the festivities. All who participated express themselves highly gratified.

POWER-LOOM BAGGING.—We have noticed in the receipts by the Cincinnati mailboats, for the last few days, several hundred pieces bagging. It was made at the Globe manufactory at Covington, now the property of Messrs. Martin, Roberts, & Co., of Woodford county, who purchased it last month. The factory is in full operation and turns out 18,000 yards of bagging per week. It is the very best brand of Kentucky bagging. Messrs. A. L. Shewell & Son are the agents of it in this city, and intend to keep on hand a supply of it.

The Globe is the only power-loom bagging manufactory out of size in the State which has escaped destruction by fire. But Messrs. Hunt & Co. have nearly all the machinery in their new factory in this city arranged, and will soon commence operations.

They have had their rope machinery in operation for some time, and have turned out one of the best articles of machine rope made here or anywhere else.

CONFLICT BETWEEN UNCLE SAM AND THE STATE OF KENTUCKY.—A short time since a man named John Beck was enlisted at the Newport barracks while he was intoxicated. A suit was instituted before Judge Nelson, of Campbell co., on Monday last, wherein it was shown that Beck was not only intoxicated when he "listed," but that he was also a married man. This, in the opinion of Judge Nelson, justified him in issuing a writ of habeas corpus for the person of Beck. This writ Lieut. Henderson refused to notice, and sent out Sergeants Kennedy, Killany, and Leroy to arrest Beck, who was in a coffee-house near the barracks. They undertook to arrest Beck, but he closed the doors on them and sent for his attorney, F. M. Webster, when the sergeants withdrew, fearful of getting into difficulty.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of the three sergeants. They will be held in bonds for their good behavior when arrested!

TRUNKS, BONNET BOXES, AND VALISES.
GREAT BARGAINS IN TRUNKS AT
J. H. McCleary's
NATIONAL TRUNK EMPORIUM,
Corner Main and Fourth sts., Louisville, Ky.

I would respectfully invite the attention of merchants and others visiting the city to my large and elegant assortment of TRUNKS, which I am prepared to offer at least TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. lower than any other establishment in the city. My stock embraces a greater variety of Trunks than is kept by any other house in the Western country.
 Many of the styles are entirely new and cannot fail to please those in search of Trunk boxes, barrels and gun cases.
 The manufacturer, who is manufacturing his own boxes, finishing up his leather, importing his own material, etc., enables me to offer my trunks at much lower prices than any other establishment either in this city or Cincinnati. Merchants and others will be consulting their own interests by giving me a call before making their purchases. Orders promptly attended to. [may 26 d&w&ew&dly]

AND THE VARIOUS AFFECTIONS CONSEQUENT UPON A DISORDERS

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colic, Vains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Convulsive, and Neuralgic Affections. It has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared according to scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was but a question of time, and it has at length reached us.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in its effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, the heart and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor into the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak, and low-spirited will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many persons to buy it without consulting a physician. Be not persuaded to buy anything until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

ARRIVAL OF GEN. WALKER AND SUITE.—The distinguished hero of the Nicaraguan war, Gen. Wm. Walker, accompanied by three of his most prominent followers, Cos. Lockridge and Waters, and Capt. Fayssoux, arrived in the city this morning on the steamer Woodford. The General is the guest of Mr. Lawrence Richardson, who married his sister. The other filibuster chiefs are at the Galt House. Col. Lockridge is well known in connection with his famous and unsuccessful mission up the San Juan river. Col. Waters had command during the protracted siege of Granada, and since then has been with the General-in-chief. Capt. Fayssoux was comander of the schooner Granada, and performed several feats of valor with that small vessel, which was afterwards taken possession of by Capt. Davis, of the U. S. Navy.

EVENING BULLETIN.

LAND WARRANTS.—The financial circular of Sweeny, Hittenhouse, Hart, & Co., Washington, of June 2d say:

There is less inquiry for Land Warrants and some of the dealers are refusing to buy. Since our last report prices have declined three cents per acre.

We quote the market heavy at the following rates, viz:

Buying rate. Selling rate.
40 acres $11 10 7/8 acre. $11 12 7/8 acre.
80 do 93 do 94 do
160 do 95 do 94 do
120 do 89 do 94 do

If we continue to increase by parties purchasing from the West, and selling their supplies, the market may further recede. Warrants can only be used to a limited extent in paying for public lands, and hence the light demand.

The State Bank.—We understand that a letter was received in this city from ex-Governor Wright yesterday, stating that the Senate Bank Investigating Committee would make a unanimous report recommending the repeal of the charter of the State Bank, on the ground of its having been secured through fraud and corruption, and that Judge Majors would to-day decide in the Marion Circuit Court that the charter was unconstitutional.

Boy Drowned.—Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock an Irish boy named Frank Dennis, was drowned in Falling Run, near the grave yard, in eight inches water. He was discovered by another boy and taken out while yet alive. He lingered until about half-past twelve, when he died. It is supposed that he had a fit, as he was subject to them.

If you are continuing to increase by parties purchasing from the West, and selling their supplies, the market may further recede. Warrants can only be used to a limited extent in paying for public lands, and hence the light demand.

The State Bank.—We understand that a letter was received in this city from ex-Governor Wright yesterday, stating that the Senate Bank Investigating Committee would make a unanimous report recommending the repeal of the charter of the State Bank, on the ground of its having been secured through fraud and corruption, and that Judge Majors would to-day decide in the Marion Circuit Court that the charter was unconstitutional.
